

The new British Institute of Facilities Management (BIFM) Level 5 Certificate is particularly appropriate to experienced middle managers wishing to aspire to a higher management level who have a track record in managing FM operations. Blue-Eye Training tutors believe that the Certificate is the most appropriate qualification for managers working at this level. The Diploma qualification can be obtained on a top-up arrangement for those who complete the Certificate and who wish to continue with their studies.

Diploma Qualification Top-Up Arrangements

Learners who wish to proceed to the Level 5 Diploma will be issued with tuition materials and a study regime to cover the following topics:

- Facilities management development and trends
- Property and asset management for facilities managers
- Sustainability and environmental management and the impact on facilities
- Managing negotiations in facilities management
- Financial management in facilities management

The programme has a flexible start format which allows learners to join at a time that suits their needs. Study is via a blend of distance learning (home or workplace study), coupled with reflective workshops covering the new BIFM competences in five blocks of three month study blocks over a 15 month period.

Learners will be assessed on the indicated assessment units to achieve the Level 5 Certificate. Assessment is via a series of written assignments which are issued at the end of each reflective workshop. We provide full learner support for the assessments.
